

Corporate 100 Club

Benefits include:

- Opportunity to engage closely with Foundation leadership to influence major pro bono initiatives, including opportunities to leverage your company's workforce as volunteers.
- Opportunity for company leadership to join our Corporate Advisory Council, a platform for thought leadership, collaboration, and robust dialogue that can broaden and strengthen our mission to make financial planning more accessible to underserved populations.
- Opportunity to see your company's brand included alongside other Corporate 100 Club members in FFP's donated ads that are featured in industry publications like InvestmentNews, Financial Advisor, Financial Planning, and Journal of Financial Planning.
- Opportunity for company and company leadership to be prominently featured on our website's new Corporate Partnerships page and in our e-newsletter, distributed to 10,000 leading financial advisors.
- Opportunity to allocate all or a portion of funds to sponsor Foundation programs, including the Pro Bono for Cancer Campaign.

Pledge requirement:

Minimum commitment of $100,000. Pledge can be paid over 1-4 years.

Current Corporate 100 Club members:

Charles Schwab & Co.
($500,000+)

Fidelity Investments
($500,000+)

AIG Financial Distributors
($250,000+)

Capital Group
($200,000+)

Commonwealth
Financial Network
($100,000+)

BNY Mellon's Pershing
Advisor Solutions
($100,000+)

TD Ameritrade Institutional
($100,000+)

Corporate Champions of Pro Bono Planning

Thanks to charitable contributions from thousands of CFP® professionals and leading corporations in the industry, the Foundation for Financial Planning has reached over 400,000 people in crisis or need with free, quality financial advice, including wounded veterans, people with serious illness, domestic violence survivors and many more.

With current commitments of over $100,000 each, our Corporate 100 Club members are making a profound impact on efforts to advance pro bono financial planning.

Own your tomorrow™

Learn more at FoundationForFinancialPlanning.org.